Causes for Concern

1. Multiple deployments are common causing stress and family attachment issues
2. An April '08 Rand Study reported 37% have either PTSD, TBI, or significant Mental Stress (5% all 3). Some estimate >50% return with some form of mental distress
3. Suicide, alcoholism, domestic abuse and violent crimes rates are rising. Suicide is 33% higher in '07 over '06, 50% higher in '08, equal to '08 by May of '09. As of summer 2009, 761 killed in Afghanistan, yet 817 suicides in all services over the same period. 2010: military > civilian suicides
4. Military Sexual Trauma (MST) is running at 16%-23%
5. In 2008, military children and teens sought outpatient mental health care 2 million times, a 20% increase from '08 and double from the start of the Iraq war ('03)
6. DoD and VA facilities are stretched ... the Aug 2009 VA claims backlog was 900,000; April 2010 backlog has improved to 605,000
7. Many more Reservists & Guard than previous wars (54% as of mid '08) and they and families are more distant from DoD and VA support facilities
8. Other mental health, marriage, and family problems often occur with or leading up to PTSD requiring attention so they don't get worse
9. Rand Study ('08) estimates that PTSD and depression among service members will cost the nation up to $6.2 billion in the two years after deployment. Investing in proper treatment would actually save $2 billion within two years.

Mission of CareForTheTroops.org

- Work to improve the ability of the civilian mental health infrastructure in the State of Georgia, then nationally, to work with military family members
- Facilitate connecting military families to providers of spiritual and psychological services familiar with the military culture and trauma
- Focus on addressing combat stress recovery as well as other spiritual and mental health related problems impacting the marriages and families of military veterans
- Educate and train clinicians, congregation and community leaders, extended family, and civilian groups about the military culture and trauma associated with military deployments in order to better assess and treat mental health symptoms, and provide more effective referrals and care
- Provide opportunities for additional trauma treatment training to clinicians
- Operate in an interfaith, non-political manner, focusing on the humanitarian interest that benefits the veterans and their extended family members

Welcome To CareForTheTroops.org

WHO is the site for? ...

This site is for military members, civilian contractors, their immediate and extended family members; whether there is a family member deployed, between deployments, recently returned, or separated.. It is also for mental health professionals, congregations of all sizes and community leaders, and others who are in positions to provide help, compassion, or advice to those who are recovering from the conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Video of Military Family Reunions...

What you see in this 10 minute video is consistent with the hope that CareForTheTroops has for all military families.

WHY visit this site? ...

This site will help those who are both near and far from the existing DOD and VA facilities; who may be having difficulty getting the help needed in a timely manner. We are working to

What should congregation and community leaders consider doing?

Many will come in contact with military personnel, civilian contractors, and their family members connected to the Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts at churches, synagogues, mosques, schools, medical offices, places of employment and where social services agencies are operating.

Congregation Leaders should start a Military Ministry; whether a large or small congregation. We describe how to do that here.

Community Leaders should learn about the military culture and signs of trauma & PTSD.

Why Congregations

- “...With research consistently showing that clergy - not psychologists or other mental health experts - are the most common source of help sought in times of psychological distress...” based on a Baylor University study Oct 2008 The results were published in Mental Health, Religion and Culture.
- Congregations already know their local community which is important if we are to address the needs across the entire State (and Nation).
- Often they already belong to a local interfaith community, e.g. the local Covenant Churches of East Cobb
- There is the opportunity to access the existing “networks” within the larger faith communities, e.g. the Catholic Archdiocese of Atlanta with the help of the Catholic Charities Atlanta network.

Military Ministry

Purpose

The ministry approach is intended to address the entire extended family members associated with the person that is or has been in the military. The ministry has the following goals:

- Help the congregation members maintain an awareness of the existence and needs of those sacrificing their time and effort to support our country
- Create an environment of acceptance within the congregation for any extended family member who worships or visits the congregation; acceptance of their needs (physical, material, and spiritual), and a willingness to join in their struggles, whatever they might be
